Prof. Verma is experienced in handling these workshops. He had already conducted many workshops on career guidance. Prof. Verma talked about opportunities available for B.Ed. students. After B.Ed. students not only go for teaching but they can also become educational counselors. The role of an educational counselor is to guide students dealing with academic problems. He also talked about how teaching is the most noble profession and it involves a lot of respect. Prof. Verma also took questions from students, answered their queries.
